Our journal is primarily intended to serve the further education of medical and scientific colleagues in the field of human genetics.

The aim is to provide our readers with a short and comprehensive overview on a specific topic.

In addition to providing background knowledge, practical procedures can also be presented in the form of "diagnostic guidelines" and tabular overviews.

Checklist reference list

- Please limit to 30 references if possible
- Please use only quotation numbers in square brackets in the text
- Please sort the literature by numbers
- In principle, the use of literature management programs like Endnote is possible
